Jordan L. Williams concentrates her practice on a wide range of finance, restructuring, and bankruptcy matters.

Jordan previously served as a law clerk at Blank Rome in the Finance group. Prior to joining the firm, Jordan served as a law clerk, paralegal, and legal assistant at a Philadelphia-based law firm specializing in bankruptcy.

During law school, Jordan served as a legal intern focusing on corporate restructuring and bankruptcy at a law firm based in Philadelphia, as well as an Equal Justice Works Veteran Legal Corps summer fellow, in which she assisted veterans and current military personnel in financial crisis; she applied for, and appealed denials of, service-connected benefits, discharge upgrades, and Chapter 7 no-asset bankruptcies.

Outside The Firm
